

Sue McConnachie

General Manager, Community Engagement & Support.

Sue's professional background has focussed on the mental health field that has included clinical, management and academic positions across the government, non government and higher education sectors. Sue is consequently strongly committed to providing a holistic approach to health and wellbeing for the broader community. She believes that the community health sector is the ideal setting to achieve this, and joined BCHS to contribute to further planning and development of the already substantial range of programs provided by BCHS for the Greater City of Bendigo community.
